College of Natural Science

Cultural competency for personal, organizational and community change

Choose one of the dates below to attend the full-day workshop, 8:30-4:30pm:

February 18th, February 21st

March 25th, May 7th

Led by members of the NatSci DEI Facilitation Team

In this full-day workshop, we will explore issues of power, oppression and privilege. We will reflect on how we've learned about human differences and examine our social identities and membership in target and non-target groups. We will learn about a framework for cultural competency development and apply it to personal and organizational change, with a focus on our work within the College of Natural Science.

Open to NatSci faculty, staff, specialists, postdocs and graduate students
