

Dye Sensitized Solar Cells

Dye-sensitized solar cells (DSSCs) are a promising technology – consisting of inorganic chemical and material components – to convert solar energy to electricity.

Students will prepare and investigate DSSCs as a function of sensitizer, metal oxide, and/or redox shuttle.

